During the fall of 1993, the Haggerty featured Songs of My People, an exhibition that celebrated African American life through the works of 50 prominent African American photographers including Michel duCille, Matthew Lewis, Ozier Muhammad, Gordon Parks, John H. White, and Keith Williams. Gordon Parks delivered the opening lecture and in this picture is welcomed to the Haggerty by Director Curtis L. Carter.