RESEARCH IN PROGRESS:
I am currently preparing a chapter on early modern European group violence for inclusion in Vol. 3 of The Cambridge History of Violence for publication in 2017. In addition, I am at work on a book project, entitled “Bandits,” which is a study of eighteenth-century bands of thieves in the Paris region. At the same time, I am at work on an ancillary project that will be a synthetic study of European banditry. Finally, I am in the initial stages of a study of the use of military force against civilian crowd actions in the history of the west. It tentatively is titled “The Army and Crowd: From the Renaissance to Kent State.”
