UNIVERSITY HONORS PROGRAM MOVES TO SENSENBRENNER HALL

As part of ongoing renovations to Marquette’s historic core – Johnston Hall, Marquette Hall and Sensenbrenner Hall – in March 2014 the University Honors Program moved to the garden level of the newly renovated Sensenbrenner Hall. Located at the corner of Wisconsin Avenue and 11th Street the building serves as a major gateway to the campus. In 2010, the Marquette University Law School vacated Sensenbrenner Hall as it moved to its new state of the art facility, Ray and Kay Eckstein Hall. The rejuvenation of Marquette’s historic core, of which Sensenbrenner Hall is part, is integral to the continued success of the University. This project restored and renovated Sensenbrenner Hall providing a modern and accessible facility that contains classrooms, offices, and other university program spaces to serve the students, faculty, and staff of Marquette University.

For more information on Sensenbrenner Hall: