

REFERENCE QUESTION OF THE WEEK

Where can I get the latest information on H1N1 Flu (Swine Flu)?

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) Web site <<http://www.cdc.gov>> provides daily updates on the number and location of confirmed U.S. cases, tips on how to stay healthy, travel health warnings, and guidance for health care professionals. Additional information is available at PandemicFlu.gov <<http://www.pandemicflu.gov/>> The World Health Organization is a good source for international information <<http://www.who.int/en/>> Local and state resources include the City of Milwaukee Health Department 2009 Swine Flu page <http://www.city.milwaukee.gov/fluseason/2009SwineFlu.htm> and Wisconsin's Pandemic Flu Source < <http://www.pandemic.wisconsin.gov/>>

Additional free information is available via EBSCO's DynaMed database:
<<http://www.ebscohost.com/dynamed/swineflu/>>

