Marquette University and the United Community Center
Research Study
Latino Parent Group for Children with Hyperactivity and/or Inattention

DON’T MISS THIS OPPORTUNITY TO HELP YOUR CHILD AND FAMILY TO BE MORE SUCCESSFUL!

Marquette University and the United Community Center are teaming up to study the best way to treat ADHD in Latino families. Parent groups will be available to Latino parents of school-aged children (5-13-years-old) with hyperactivity and/or inattention who are having trouble in the classroom, with peers, and/or at home. During parent groups, parents will be taught how to help their child be more successful at school, get along better with peers and siblings, and listen more at home.

Program Details:
- Who - Latino parents of school-aged children (5-13-years-old) who are having trouble in the classroom, with peers, and/or at home due to hyperactivity and/or inattention
- When - Evening hours
- Time commitment - 8 classes for 2 hours
- Where - Marquette University and the United Community Center
- How much - Free!!
- Language - All groups will be presented in Spanish

Parents Will Learn:
- How to work with their child’s teacher to improve classroom behavior and performance
- How to get their child to be a better listener
- How to respond consistently and effectively when their child does not listen or do what he/she needs to do
- How to praise their child for good behavior
- How to manage difficult routines (e.g., homework)

For more information, please call 288-6215. Please leave your name and phone number, and Theresa or Margaret will call you back.