UNDERGRADUATE COURSE DESCRIPTION

Term: Fall 2016
Instructor: Dominic Zappia
Course #: THEO 1001
Section: 125
Course Title: Introduction to Theology
Topic: The Story of Christianity

Description:

This course will be comprised of three major sections: (1) Christianity's foundational documents, (2) its history, and (3) some of its major theological ideas. In the first section we will examine Christianity's sacred texts--the Old and New Testaments. For the second, we will follow the history of the Christian movement, covering major events. With the third, we will discuss specific topics within Christian thought--God, ethics, and the church. This class aims to give students a broad understanding of Christianity, providing them with key terms and ideas that will assist them in their future theology courses.
