UNDERGRADUATE COURSE DESCRIPTION

Term: Fall 2015
Instructor: Andrew Kuzma
Course #: THEO 2400
Sections: 101, 102
Course Title: Christian Discipleship

Description:

The English word “disciple” comes from the Latin discipulus, meaning “learner.” Christian discipleship, in this basic sense, refers to forming one’s life and actions in light of the teachings of Christ (as mediated by Scripture, the church, etc.). This course will examine a few of the ways in which these teachings have been applied as “ethical” or “moral” thought. It is structured into three units: 1) environmental ethics, 2) questions of war and pacifism, 3) health care ethics. Through the readings, course lectures, and class discussion the student will be able to describe and evaluate how Christians have and continue to grapple with being a “learner” or “student” of Christ.
