UNDERGRADUATE COURSE DESCRIPTION

Term: Spring 2017
Instructor: Dr. Conor Kelly
Course #: THEO 4450/5450
Section: 701
Course Title: Medical Ethics

Description:

This course will address health care and health care ethics from the perspective of the Christian theological tradition. The course will discuss foundational concepts in theological ethics, the theological significance of major themes in health care, and the ethical analysis of specific issues in health care from a theological point of view. Topics will be analyzed from the perspectives of those giving care and those receiving care, and students will be given opportunities to incorporate their own experience in health care settings. The aim of the course is to develop a more critical assessment of personal and social decisions in health care today.