Re-reading the Roman Tea Leaves on the Synods on the Family: Reflecting Back and Looking Forward

Wednesday, April 8, 2015

4:00 p.m.
Raynor Memorial Libraries, Beaumier Suites
1355 West Wisconsin Avenue

The lecture is free and open to the public, but seating is limited.
For questions or special needs, please contact Kim Newman at kimberly.newman@marquette.edu or 414.288.7511.

Parking is available in the 16th Street Parking Structure located between West Wisconsin Avenue and West Wells Street.

Rev. James T. Bretzke, S.J., is a Milwaukee native and the son of Marquette alumni. He taught in Korea, the Philippines, California and Massachusetts and spent seven years studying and teaching at the Pontifical Gregorian University in Rome, where he served as an ad hoc consultant to several Vatican offices. He has often been called upon by bishops, religious superiors, priests, seminarians, lay people and the media to address complex and difficult questions about church matters. He brings this expertise to bear in a careful look back at the 2014 Extraordinary Synod on the Family, as well as what we can expect from the October 2015 Synod. Father Bretzke has published widely in fundamental moral theology and cross-cultural ethics and is writing an expanded revision of his widely used A Morally Complex World: Engaging Contemporary Moral Theology. His most recent book, A Handbook of Roman Catholic Moral Terms, (Georgetown University Press, 2013) was awarded a prize in the 2014 Reference Book category by the Catholic Press Association.
The Rev. Francis Wade, S.J., Public Lecture

Re-reading the Roman Tea Leaves on the Synods on the Family: Reflecting Back and Looking Forward

Wednesday, April 8, 2015